

TRoubles of an Editor.

Found His Boyish Appearance Involved Him in Many Difficulties.

The city editor of a German newspaper concealed much ability and cleverness behind a modest exterior. He was slight of frame and his beardless face might have been mistaken for that of a boy of 15, though it was only necessary to hear him converse to be convinced that he was of the world worldly.

He told a story which illustrated the difficulties under which he labored because of his youthful appearance. There was a strike on at the time, which was a few years ago, and the state board of arbitration in session at the Kirby house had promised him to leave an account of the proceedings with the clerk. Late that evening, when this account was badly needed, he rushed over to the Kirby house and asked the clerk for the manuscript which had been left for his paper.

"I've got it here all right," said the clerk, "but can't give it to you. You'll have to get an order from the city editor."

"But I am the city editor," protested the applicant.

"You?"

The clerk gave one contemptuous glance at his beardless face and then refused to further discuss such a ridiculous proposition. The city editor was in despair. He had to have that copy, and he knew the clerk was made of adamant. He raved and tore and swore to no purpose, and was only relieved from his predicament when a new reporter on his staff sauntered into the hotel and affably recognized the clerk. With a suddenness born of inspiration the city editor asked for and received from his junior reporter an order to give the bearer the manuscript, and upon that order it was delivered without question.

"But that wasn't half so bad as the time I went to interview Jaguina, the great swordswoman," he continued. "The clerk of the hotel sent me, quickly following my card, right up to her room. I knocked on the door, and in response to her 'come in,' entered. She was standing there somewhat in dishabille, and, seizing a pitcher from a stand, as I entered, cried:

"For Heaven's sake, get me a pitcher of hot water at once."

"Being evidently mistaken for the bellboy I fulfilled the bellboy's duties, brought her a pitcher of water and then handed it to her with as graceful a bow as I was capable of, and, producing another card, told her my errand.

"I don't know of any profession," said the veteran journalist, beaming thoughtfully over his glasses, "in which so many illusions are so quickly and ruthlessly dispelled as in ours. I can hardly realize it now myself, but I still can distinctly remember the great shock and grief it was to me to see idols about whom I had built such magnificent castles ruthlessly destroyed, and the castles pushed over upon them. I can remember, as though it were to-day, many years ago when, in my reportorial capacity, I first attended a cake walk. To my surprise and astonishment, there I saw as judges editors of great newspapers, men whom I revered and looked up to as embodying all there was or could be in the profession of journalism, and I spelt it with a big, big J. But there they were, and when a few years later I achieved, myself, the exalted position of judge at a cake walk, I realized how little men actually change themselves and how much they are governed by the change in the point of view."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

A Time-Saving Device.

A unique time-saving device is said to be used in the office of one of New York's large drug companies. Over the desks of each member of the firm and each manager of a department are four incandescent lights of different colors. When the individual is at his desk and at liberty to consider questions from others in the office, his white light is turned on. When he is in the building and must be hunted up he leaves his green light burning. When he is engaged and not to be disturbed except for vitally important matters his blue light is in evidence; while the display of his red light means, practically: "Danger! Will not brook interruption under any consideration."

A Blinding Industry.

Most persons employed in the Venetian glass industry begin to lose their sight when they are between 40 and 50 years of age, and in a short time becoming totally blind. The blindness is caused by the excessive heat and glare from the glass furnaces.

The Home of Peruna

The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

As is well known, Dr. Hartman is the president of the Hartman Sanitarium, an institution which has a department devoted exclusively to the treatment of female diseases. He is thus brought to see thousands of such cases every year, the most of whom return to their homes to be treated by correspondence.

THE GREATEST OF AMERICA'S SANITARIUMS.

The principal remedy he relies upon in such cases is Peruna, which every woman should have, who has any affection of this kind.

In view of the great multitude of women suffering from some kind of female disease, and yet unable to find any cure, Dr. Hartman, the renowned gynecologist, has announced his willingness to direct the treatment of as many cases as may make application to him during the summer months without charge.

The treatment will be conducted by correspondence. The doctor will prescribe all medicines, applications, hygienic and dietary regulations necessary to complete a cure. The medicines prescribed can be obtained at all drug stores. This offer will prevail during the summer months. Any woman can become a regular patient by sending a written statement of her age, condition of life, history and symptoms of her derangements.

All cases of female diseases, including menstrual irregularities, displacements, ulcerations, inflammations, discharges, irritation of the ovaries, tumors and dropsy of the abdomen, should apply at once and become registered as regular patients. All correspondence will be held strictly confidential. No testimonials of cures will be given to the public except by the express wish of the patient.

No one knows better than Dr. Hartman how much the women suffer with diseases peculiar to their sex. No one knows better than he does how many of them suffer with such diseases. Patiently, hopefully, wearily, and often silently, they eke out a miserable existence year after year.

A woman confined to the house several years with a chronic female derangement had finally given up all hope of being cured. She had tried physician after physician, and remedy after remedy, without any permanent improvement. Her treatment had cost her husband, who was a poor man, hundreds of dollars. They had been obliged to deny themselves many comforts of life in order to get money enough to pay the physicians.

Picking up the paper one day she happened to read an item which contained the news that Dr. Hartman would treat such cases free of charge by letter. She immediately wrote the doctor, describing her case, and giving him all her symptoms. She soon received a letter telling her exactly what to do and what medicines and appliances to get. She began the treatment (the principal remedy being Peruna) at once, and in a few weeks was well and strong again and able to do her own work.

Another woman who used Peruna without becoming one of Dr. Hartman's regular patients had the following experience. Miss Ida Green writes from Baldwinville, Ga.:

"Peruna is wonderful and good, and a certain cure for female weakness. I have been ill and have been taking doctor's medicine for several years, and found that none did me any good.

"Every day it was a worry. I was always sick. I had come to the conclusion to give up, and not use any more medicine. I was sick indeed for the past two years. Just before I began to take Peruna I was very weak, besides I was bilious and constipated.

"I had pains in my back and side and falling of the womb, with bearing down pains.

"One day while reading my newspaper, I came across an ad., read of the book for women entitled, "Health and Beauty," and sent for it. Then I began to use Peruna. After using several bottles I am now thoroughly cured."—MISS IDA GREEN.

Mrs. Theresa Keller, of Fremont, Wash., writes:

"Peruna not only cured me of female trouble but prevents me catching any cold, and as long as I have a bottle in the house my family needs no doctor."

ADDITION TO TRAINS.

"The Meteor" and "The World's Fair Special" to the Frisco System.

The route of this flyer is via our old line, through the Ozarks and Indian Territory to Sapulpa, thence over the Red River Division through the historic Creek Chickasaw Nations, via Denison and Sherman, to Fort Worth and points Southwest thereof; and via Sherman and the Houston & Texas Central Railroad to Dallas and Beyond. The more newly-constructed portion of the roadbed traversed has been heavily ballasted with rock, laid with heavy rail, and in every way brought fully up to the standard of other divisions of the Frisco System. The train will be made up of entirely new equipment throughout, carrying Palace Day Coaches, Reclining Chair Cars, Pullman Drawing Room Sleepers and

CAPE OBSERVATION CARS.

In which meals a la carte will be served at hours convenient to the traveler. This service will be under the management of Mr. Fred. Harvey, whose name should be a sufficient guarantee of careful attention to the inner man. Just a word about these cars: The dining room is located in the forward end. The rear portion of this car is occupied by an observation saloon, and is provided with easy chairs, writing desks and stationery, and a library service embracing the leading daily papers and the more popular weekly periodicals. The train will be lighted by electricity, and cooled by electric fans during the summer months.

TO THE TRAVELING PUBLIC.

The inauguration of service of this character means quite as much to its patrons as it does to the railway company interested. If we were not sanguine of the success of this train, it goes without saying that it would never have been established. It fills a long-felt want and opens a new and fast developing country. But we feel that these are not the only factors that may reasonably be expected to contribute to its success—the time is fast; the train is a "handy" one, as regards hours of arrival at and departure from termini; and the equipment is ornate, and provided with all modern conveniences. These features should, of themselves, tend to make the train popular.

We also take pleasure in announcing material improvements in our service via Fort Smith and Paris to Texas and the Southwest.
